MEDIA COVERAGE AND PARTICIPATION TO THE PUBLIC DEBATE (A SELECTION)

Call for an International Experts Panel on Migration and Asylum (GIEM), with Hélène Thiollet (CERI, Sciences Po) and Virginie Guiraudon (CEE, Sciences Po), <http://giema.eu/>

Using the IPCC experience on climate change, this call involves scholars and experts, with the support of civil society organisations and concerned citizens in the discussions of policy-makers regarding migration and asylum policy. Our first signatories are well-known social scientists. It has been supported by IC Migrations and Imiscoe international research network on migration. Until now, it has been signed by over international 600 colleagues. The call has received significant coverage in national and international press (Le Monde, Repubblica, Le Soir, The Guardian). An international conference and a press conference will be organized in December, with the support of College de France, USPC and Sciences Po (LIEPP).

Media coverage

Television (LCI, France 2, I-Télé, BFM TV, France Info TV, Arte) ; Press (Médiapart, La Croix, Repubblica, Repubblica delle Donne, l'Actu, Le Un, El Watan, Libération) ; Radio interviews (France Inter, France culture, RFI, Europe 1; Radio 24, Rai, Radio Capital; Radio Canada)

TEACHING AND SEMINARS

I have been creating and teaching over 18 undergraduate and graduate courses in the past 10 years. I have worked to design inspiring courses of various formats, for an extremely wide range of students and audiences in France and abroad.

Undergraduate teaching experience: Economic Geography (78H); Mobilities, flows and Networks (50H); Urban Geography (60 H); Beyond the urban/rural divide: providing a typology of forms of settlement (60 H); The City in Social Sciences (202 H); Qualitative research: an Introduction (183 H); Advanced qualitative research (50H); Critical geographies and Gender Geographies (72H); Health and vulnerability (12H).

Graduate teaching experience: Populations and Mobilities: questioning the 'mobility turn' (128H); International Migration: theories and concepts (20H) ; Social change and the city: issues and problems (30H); Social Change and local development (20H); Population, Space and Place (56H); Labour and employment (32H); Scientific Writing (12h); Qualitative Methods (270H); Research techniques: preparing and conducting an interview (86h).

Teaching in summer and doctoral schools : "Researching mobilities across the life course: challenges and methods" (University of Marne-la-Vallée); "Gender and Mobilities" (University of Neuchâtel) ; "Migration and Globalization" (University of Poitiers – Migrinter); "Transnational approaches to Gender Studies", (Gender Studies doctoral programme, University of Lausanne); with Giovanni Semi, "Migrant networks and transnationalism” (MEDI Genoa Summer School); “Sociology and Politics of Immigration in Europe” (European University Institute, Florence)

Organization of two doctoral schools: “Gender in the Mediterranean” (Rabat, Morocco, 2008); “The city of refuge. A socio-spatial analysis” (Ecole Française d’Athènes, Greece, 2019)

I have run two regular research seminars since 2015:

2015 - present Transnational Mobilities monthly Seminar, Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales (EHESS) <https://enseignements-2018.ehess.fr/2018/ue/2307/>, with Michel Péraldi, Adelina Miranda, Liza Terrazoni
